

The Prologue

Today is 31/01/2023. So far I have finished about 50% of my book, designed the cover, for both the English and the Croatian version, created certain illustrations that go along with the respective content and solved some technical issues regarding the project. Finally, I can dedicate most of my time to the writing solely. I expect book to be over until Spring this year and I believe that by Autumn it will reach the stores.

I am doing almost everything by myself because of the humble finances at my disposal. I pay only for the necessary services like web hosting, software licenses and printing. All material used in my book and on my web site is authentical: I made it personally to save the precious money for the things that are out of my reach. I also translate from the Croatian to the English, and vice versa, on my own.

I left a clerk job in the state service to have enough time to work on my project. Second, but equally important, reason are the false accusations raised against me: one ethical and one criminal. Accusations that were constructed upon malevolent gossip, lies and fabricated evidence. Moreover, I am deprived of the equal legal protection and unbiased judiciary approach. Watch The Trial (1962.) by Orson Welles and you will get the picture. Mediocrites and bureaucrats, damn lynch mob. They even confiscated my life savings to obstruct the noble efforts I undertake.

What is this project about? The name of the project is the "Captain Nemesis Journal". It is the most relevant, summarized and accurate up to date knowledge of the Universe and related physics such as astro, particle, nuclear, theoretical and quantum physics. I don't have formal high-level education but I spent more than twenty (20+) years, of my private life, in searching, collecting, evaluating, analysing, filtering, examining, categorizing and contemplating the available cosmic data. The Project has two main parts: the web site, where I publish my articles, and the book "Nature of reality: (meta)physics of the Universe".

The Internet address of my web site:
<https://www.captainnemesisjournal.co.uk/>

My best references are: knowledge of the English language, information seeking skills, honesty, common sense and strictly scientifical method: if something can't be proven without doubt - repeated any time and any place in the identical conditions with the same test result(s) produced - then I discard it as unreliable. Why did I mention "honesty" as one of my best references? Because I have no reason to lie: I am an objective observer, not associated with any political or religious party, and I want the Truth. Hence, the Truth is what I present to my audience. Simply said: I do not sell frog's fur because there is none - one can only forge it. Except Wolverine specie in Africa which has some body hair yet too little to be considered being a real fur.

$$U = T \times c_2 / E + E_m + E_{dm} + D_E = T \times c_2 / E_t$$

I do not claim to speak the Truth.

There is no need.

The Truth speaks for Itself.

Just like the Sunlight shines: independent of anyone's assistance.
